

Graduate Journal of Social Science December 2015, Vol. 11, Issue 2

Editors:

Arpita Das, The Asian-Pacific Resource & Research Centre for Women
Remi Joseph-Salisbury, Centre for Ethnicity and Racism Studies, University of Leeds, UK editors@gjss.org

Guest Editors:

Laura Connelly, University of Leeds, UK
Laura Jarvis-King, University of Leeds, UK
Gemma Ahearne, Leeds Beckett University, UK

Copy Editor:

Nadia Hai, Carleton University, Canada

Web Editor:

Michael En, University of Vienna, Austria

Layout & Design Editor:

Boka En, University of Vienna, Austria

Cover Image:

Toni Stone Photography – <http://tonistonephoto.com>

The Graduate Journal of Social Science (ISSN: 1572-3763) is an open-access online journal focusing on methodological and theoretical issues of interdisciplinary relevance. The journal publishes two issues per year, one of which is thematic and one of which groups innovative and instructive papers from all disciplines. GJSS welcomes submissions from both senior and junior academics, thus providing a forum of publication and exchange among different generations engaged in interdisciplinary research. GJSS is published by EBSCO publishing.

For subscription inquiries, requests, and changes, please contact editors@gjss.org.

All the content and downloads are published under the Creative Commons Attribution-NoDerivs 3.0 license.

